Cancer Partners of Nebraska Welcomes Dr. Justin Burr, Radiation Oncologist

Lincoln, Neb. – Cancer Partners of Nebraska is proud to welcome Dr. Justin Burr, a radiation oncologist, to its growing medical team. Dr. Burr’s arrival marks an exciting milestone as the organization expands its services to the Kearney community through a new partnership with Kearney Regional Medical Center (KRMC).

Together, CPN and KRMC have partnered to provide comprehensive outpatient cancer care at a new, state-of-the-art, 25,000-square-foot cancer center in Kearney, scheduled to open this fall.

A native of Kenesaw, Nebraska, Dr. Burr earned his undergraduate degree from Hastings College and completed both his medical degree and residency at the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in Omaha.

“I’m thrilled to return to central Nebraska to care for the community that raised me,” said Dr. Burr. “Since the beginning of my training, it has been a dream to come home to deliver excellent, dedicated care and provide consistency to the oncology community in the region. There is no other place my family and I would rather be, and I’m honored to be part of Cancer Partners of Nebraska and this new chapter in cancer care in Kearney and central Nebraska.”

The Kearney Cancer Center, located between KRMC and Yanney Heritage Park, will offer:

- Radiation and medical oncology
- Infusion and chemotherapy services
- A state-of-the-art linear accelerator
- Access to national oncology clinical trials – CPN is the first and only community oncology practice in Nebraska to become an MD Anderson affiliate institution through the NCI clinical trials network
- Onsite CT and PET diagnostic imaging

Cancer Partners of Nebraska is the largest independent community oncology practice in Lincoln, with a team of 16 physicians offering comprehensive cancer care. Their specialties include medical oncology, radiation oncology, gynecologic oncology, urologic oncology, and a wide range of supportive services. CPN also serves 13 outreach sites across rural Nebraska.
